

FOR IMMEDIATE RELEASE

ANDRE McCARTER, INVENTOR OF THE TOUCH GLOVE, THE REVOLUTIONARY SPORTS TRAINING GLOVE, PARTICIPATES IN A RADIO INTERVIEW WITH 980-AM WCAP, LOWELL, MA.

LOWELL, MA. – APRIL 9, 2008 – Andre McCarter, President & Inventor of the Touch Glove will participate in a radio interview on 980 WCAP (Lowell, MA.) – Merrimack Magazines “Morning Edition” on April 10, 2008. 980 WCAP is a 56 year old heritage radio station. It is considered the most popular talk radio station north of Boston [980wcap.com].

The TG has been referred to as “the coach on the hand.” TG is an athletic training glove that breaks old habits and develops new correct habits by neurologic response through repetition; it is designed to improve the touch for “fingertip control!” The glove can be used in basketball, football, volleyball, baseball, rugby, and water polo. It will guarantee that a player is properly positioning the fingertips on the ball 100% of the time. It has become “the Best Kept Secret in Professional Sports.”

Mr. Andre McCarter former UCLA college basketball champion and Philadelphia’s famous Overbrook High School recent Hall of Fame inductee is the inventor of the TG and Founder of Classic Success, LLC. Classic Success, LLC (“Classic”) is a manufacturer of sports training products. Their products are positioned at the high end of the market in terms of both quality and results.

"This product has received unprecedented industry support and commitment from professional athletes on the strength of its results," said TG Project Manager, Marc Adderly. "Top sports retailers and online sports products distributors have been quick to appreciate the need for proven sports training products and have responded by lending their corporate support and technical expertise. Our focus now is to communicate to the widest possible audience how TG can effectively help players of all ages and levels."
